“
Perform Better have been great managing the project from start to finish, from initial meetings, lab design, equipment selection and delivery. Their ability coordinating post install support for technology products was very beneficial and allowed the use of the products to be maximized for the recent college open days.

SGS college required a new performance lab in the brand new specialist Brunel building on the college's Wise Campus. The impressive building will become home to sixth form Science, Technology, Maths, and Engineering courses.

The project was intended to expose learners to the currently used digital technologies within sport and exercise science, to enable them to better transition directly into industry.

Using the new space students can begin working with the college's professional partners such as Bristol Flyers and Bristol Bears to assess, report and support to enhance performance programs delivered by the partners. This will effectively run as an onsite work placement.
